

Your decision to exempt TV and Radio stations from telemarketing restrictions is offensive to me. It indicates a lack of understanding about how annoying such call are and conveys a particularly idiotic sense of everybody-but-we-special-folks in your decision making process. Such attitudes are what allow problems to continue rather than being corrected by government agencies.